

Growing up with Media Survey Child Consent for Participation in Research Wave 8 Supplement

Ok, great. And, before we dive into the survey, here is a quick refresher on the Growing up with Media study:

The purpose of the study is to better understand why some young people have healthy relationships while others have unhealthy relationships. The results of this study will help design programs that help young people make healthy choices and live healthier lives.

Some of the questions we ask are sensitive. For example, we will ask you about experiences you may have had in real life or seen in the media (like TV, the Internet, video games) with violence including sexual violence, physical and verbal abuse, and other things that can happen in relationships.

Your participation in the Growing up with Media survey is completely voluntary. You have the right not to take part in the research study and can stop taking part at any time. You can also skip any question that you do not want to answer.
